Summary of findings from investigation:

A landlord rents out a second floor living space (granny flat) above his garage. He evicted the tenants due to failing to pay rent. Shortly after, the tenants started to complain about feeling ill after a Roundup pesticide application that the landlord had done on the property along the driveway edge, under his boat and around the perimeter of the garage. The tenant claims the application took place on April 21, 2017. The landlord stated that the application took place on April 1, 2017. The application was done using a hand wand from a 20 gallon sprayer on a quad. Roundup Pro (EPA Reg No. 524-475) was used utilizing a 1% solution. The REI label requirements for Roundup state "Keep people and pets off treated areas until spray solution has dried." The landlord claimed that he was in the application area for 2-3 hours and never saw anyone outside or in the treated area. The landlord did not know that he was required to notify everyone on the property when he was going to perform a Roundup herbicide application. He claimed that the tenants had never complained before about any applications in the last 2 years and he applies a couple times a year.

The tenant claimed that the application occurred on April 21, 2017. The male tenant began coughing later that day. He ended up going to the hospital April 27, 2017 and being admitted to the hospital. He was coughing and having difficulty breathing. He was treated at the hospital for pneumonia and released on 5/1/2017.

El Dorado County is still investigating and is waiting on obtaining medical records of the tenant who was admitted to the hospital.
